Rearden Commerce Appoints Founder of Travelocity to Board of Directors

INDUSTRY LUMINARY, TERRY JONES, HELPING CHART COMPANY'S NEXT PHASE OF GROWTH

SAN MATEO, Calif. – March 7, 2006 – Rearden Commerce, the largest online marketplace for services of all kinds, today announced the appointment of Terrell Jones, founder of Travelocity and former CIO of Sabre Holdings, to its Board of Directors effective March 7, 2006. A 30-year travel and IT industry veteran, Jones previously served on the Rearden Commerce Advisory Board.

“Terry brings Rearden Commerce a unique combination of deep travel industry experience, IT experience, and business-to-business and business-to-consumer e-commerce experience,” said Patrick Grady, founder, chairman and CEO, Rearden Commerce. “Since joining our Advisory Board, he has helped the company deliver on our Total Travel Experience initiative, which is changing the way organizations purchase and manage all services-related business travel. Now, in this expanded capacity, he will take a more active role in guiding the company through its next phase of growth. We're honored to have him on our Board.”

Jones founded Travelocity in 1996 and served as president and CEO until May 2002. Prior to starting Travelocity, Jones spent 24 years at American Airlines and Sabre Holdings where he held a variety of executive positions. At the end of his tenure at Sabre Holdings he held the position of CIO. Jones began his travel career as a travel agent in Chicago later moving to the technical world with Agency Data Systems, a Florida-based mini-computer accounting systems company that was acquired by American Airlines. Jones is currently the managing principal of Essential Ideas, a consultancy that assists companies in transitioning to the digital economy. He is an experienced board member having served on the boards of Entrust, Inc., Overture Services, La Quinta Corporation, and Vendare Media Corp. Jones currently serves on the board of EarthLink, Inc. and is chairman of Kayak.com.

“I believe Rearden Commerce will revolutionize the global services economy and has the opportunity to emerge as the eBay of Services,” said Jones. “The company's leadership, leading-edge technology and overall market opportunity is truly exciting. Joining the Board of Directors gives me an opportunity to play a significant role in building one of the next great companies.”
